Hi <<First Name>>!

I see you've got an order open in the online store! Did your grandson find your herbs and empty the basil on the floor, making you forget your order? This has happened to me before! By the time I vacuumed up the mess, placing my order had completely slipped my mind. Besides the fact that my shopping window of opportunity had definitely closed for the moment.

Don't worry though... it hasn't been too long, and we should still have your products in stock. Your order has been saved, and you can get back to your cart by clicking here.

Make sure you have enough fabric and notions to finish your projects!

Talk soon,

Sandra
